

2008-2009 School Highly Qualified Teacher (HQT) and Emergency License Data

The federal No Child Left Behind Act (NCLBA) requires that all public school teachers of “core” academic subjects meet the “highly qualified teacher” (HQT) requirements of the Act.

Under NCLBA educators of “core” subjects must be properly licensed and endorsed for the subjects and instructional levels they teach, and have the required content knowledge for the endorsement they are using in the assignment. The law also requires that schools receiving federal Title I funds notify parents when their child is being taught a “core” subject by a teacher who has not yet met the federal requirements.

The Vermont Department of Education determines the HQT status of educators for their assignments both statewide and school-by-school. Here are some key points to keep in mind when reviewing statewide and local data:

- Highly Qualified Teacher requirements pertain only to teachers of “core academic subjects” as defined by NCLBA. These are English language arts (including English as a Second Language), math, science, social studies, reading, foreign languages, art, music, and the generalist endorsement areas of elementary and early childhood education (grades K-3 only). In addition, special educators who provide primary instruction in one or more of these “core” content areas are subject to HQT requirements, as are teachers of core subjects in alternative education programs.
- There are a number of reasons why a class might be taught by an educator who is not HQT for his or her assignment. These reasons include teaching under an emergency license, not yet meeting the testing or content knowledge requirements to be HQT for the assignment, or being assigned to teach a grade level or subject area that is outside of the parameters of the educator’s current license and endorsements.
- Emergency license figures include educators of all subjects, not just “core” subjects as defined above. However, they do not include administrators or student support personnel (e.g., guidance counselors, nurses) working under emergency licenses.
- In any instance where a class is taught by an educator that is not HQT for an assignment, an individual plan is in place for the class to become so with the support of the school administration.
- The data that is being reported is from the 2008-2009 school year. 2009-2010 school year data will be available next spring.
- In small schools, the percentages of educators who are HQT for their assignments may fluctuate significantly year to year because of the small number of classes and teachers.

For more information on the Highly Qualified Teacher Requirements, visit <http://education.vermont.gov/new/html/licensing/hqt.html>.

*Important – Please Note:

In January 2010, as we have done in prior years, the VT DOE sent preliminary reports of the 2008-2009 not-HQT core class data for each school to each supervisory union. Superintendents were asked to review the data and to make any corrections to the preliminary reports in consultation with Department staff. They were instructed to then report the corrected data publicly in their communities via means such as their school reports or Web sites. However, the VT DOE did not collect the corrections to the school-level data since we did not have a format for posting school-level not-HQT data on the state Web site.

Therefore, the 2008-2009 school-level not-HQT core class data reported here may not match the 2008-2009 not-HQT data reported by an LEA or supervisory union. If there is a discrepancy, please rely on the locally reported data for 2008-2009.

Beginning in January 2011, in addition to providing supervisory unions with preliminary data reports, the VT DOE will collect and upload corrections to the school-level data. Therefore, starting with the 2009-2010 school year not-HQT data, which will be published on this Web site in late March 2011, school-level data posted on the state Web site will be accurate.

Professional qualification determinations are defined, calculated and reported at the local level. Please contact the school or supervisory union for professional qualification data.
